Race and Arab Americans Before and After 9/11

From Invisible Citizens to Visible Subjects

Edited by Amaney Jamal and Nadine Naber

"A breakthrough volume. No one has systematically tried to situate Arab American studies within American race theory. . . . very challenging and highly provocative. It will engage readers across the disciplines and will be a must read for ethnic studies, race studies, research on class and gender, and comparative research."
—Suaed Joseph, University of California, Davis

La Chulla Vida

Gender, Migration, and the Family in Andean Ecuador and New York City

Jason Pribilsky

Chronicling the experience of young Andean families as their lives extend between the Ecuadorian highlands and New York City, this book takes an in-depth look at transnational labor migration and gender identities. Jason Pribilsky offers an engrossing and sensitive account of the ways in which young men and women in these two locales navigate their lives, exploring the impact of gender, generation, and new forms of wealth in a single Andean community.

Recovering "Yiddishland"

Threshold Moments in American Literature

Merle L. Bachman

The book spotlights significant works by Yiddish immigrant writers that reveal unexpected and illuminating critiques of Americanization. Combining sophisticated academic analysis of literary works with her own personal encounters with Yiddish writing, Bachman offers a provocative and highly readable contribution to Jewish literary history.

Archaeology of the Iroquois

Selected Readings and Research Sources

Edited by Jordan E. Kerber

Culled from leading publications, these essays collectively represent the current state of knowledge and research in the field. A comprehensive research bibliography with more than 500 entries will be a key resource for specialists and nonspecialists alike. Along with seminal essays by major figures in regional archaeology, the book includes responses by Haudenosaunee writers to the political context of contemporary archaeological work.

Straightedge Youth Complexity and Contradictions of a Subculture

Robert T. Wood

"A work of major importance in terms of both cultural/subcultural studies and analyzing the complexities of the punk movement. Wood does an admirable job of bringing to light a sub-movement that is very often misunderstood. . . . A work of serious scholarship which will be useful to researchers engaged in the fields of punk studies, popular culture analysis, or anthropology."—Brian Cogan, author of The Encyclopedia of Punk Music and Culture

Ireland and the Global Question

Michael J. O'Sullivan

"Enriched with an historical perspective. . . . Issues such as strong institutions, 'conducive' business environment and regulations, sound macroeconomic policies, openness to trade and investment and a well-educated population all contribute to a nation being able to capitalize on the globalization process. [A] thoughtful analysis."
—Angel Gurría, OECD Secretary General

Middle Eastern Societies and the West

Accommodation or Clash of Civilizations?

Edited by Meir Litvak

Taking the concepts of the Middle East and the West into account as useful analytical categories, the various articles in this volume examine and analyze a broad spectrum of Middle Eastern encounters and attitudes toward the West. This collection provides a fuller understanding of the complexities involved in both the historical and contemporary relationship between Middle Eastern societies and the West.

Journal of Turkish Literature (JTL)

Talat S. Halman, Editor in Chief

The literature of the Turks is among the oldest of living literatures. For nearly twelve centuries, it has been alive in many continents and regions, expressing itself in a diversity of languages and scripts and remaining receptive to external influences as it maintains its intrinsic impetus for renewal. JTL encompasses the literary output of the Turks in Asia, the Middle East, the Balkans and elsewhere.
